

Office Policies and Consent to Treatment

Meg Earls, Psy.D.

Licensed Clinical Psychologist PSY26426

About Psychotherapy: Psychotherapy requires a joint effort. Progress depends on many factors, including motivation, effort, and life circumstances such as interactions with family, friends, and others. The length of treatment varies depending upon the nature and severity of the problems, along with the previously mentioned other factors. While therapy is designed to be helpful and supportive, at times, this process may be difficult and uncomfortable. Progress is real, but the process takes some time. We will collaboratively set the goals of our work together.

Payment for Services: Payment is expected by the end of each month. I accept checks and credit cards using Square (HIPPA compliant). There is a 3% charge on the total for using a credit card based on Square's usage fee. There is an annual cost of living increase of $5 every January 1st. When I am working with you in weekly therapy, I do not charge for short (15-minute) phone calls or email exchanges between sessions. I will bill for extended phone conversations at a rate equivalent to your hourly fee. I do not work with insurances, but upon request, am happy to provide information to a third party payor to facilitate your receipt of any reimbursement possible. I provide these 'superbill' statements quarterly for interested parties.

Cancellations: Once we agree on a regular time- or times- to meet during the week, I will reserve those hours for you. I will give you advanced notice of any planned absences. If you need to cancel a session, please notify me immediately. I will not charge for sessions canceled with a week's notice (7 days). For sessions canceled with less than a week's notice, I will try to reschedule your appointment at a mutually agreeable time. If we cannot reschedule within the same week, I will bill you for any missed sessions not canceled in advance or able to be rescheduled. The one-week notification period does not apply if you decide to end treatment although I strongly encourage you to discuss any desire to do so.

Telephone & Emergency Procedures: If you need to contact me between sessions, please leave a message on my voicemail at (415) 812-3115 and your call will be returned as soon as possible. I usually check my messages several times each day and once a day on weekends. I do not take calls late at night. If an emergency situation arises, please call me and indicate it clearly in your message. If you need to talk to someone right away, you may call Psychiatric Emergency Services 24 hours a day at (415) 206-8125.

Confidentiality: Anyone who seeks therapy has a basic right to privacy. All information and records are highly confidential and may not be revealed to anyone without your written permission. Disclosure may be required by law in the following circumstances: where there is reasonable suspicion of child or elder abuse or neglect; where a patient presents a danger to himself, herself, or others, if a patient is gravely disabled, or in the event of certain court orders. In couples or family psychotherapy, confidentiality and privilege do not apply between the couple. I will use clinical judgment when revealing information in these situations.

I, the undersigned, have read, understand, and agree to comply with the above policies, and hereby consent to treatment.
